

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Using a distillation separator, a gas to be treated is separated into a plurality of gas groups having different boiling points. Then, the specific gases included in each of the plurality of gas groups separated at the first separating means and having similar boiling points are separated using a chromatographic separator. In this manner, specific gases can be separated from the gas to be treated containing a plurality of specific gases.